WISA CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

COVID-19

The outbreak of Covid-19 resulted in the postponement of the much-anticipated WISA 2020 Biennial Conference to December 2020. As a learning organisation, WISA is learning every day during this pandemic, and we hope to leverage these lessons to improve our future offerings. With this approach in mind, we are forging ahead with planning for our WISA 2020 Conference and embracing the benefits that digital has to offer.

You may be aware that many organisations have cancelled or postponed their events planned for this year. We at WISA do not see this as a solution, hence our decision to proceed with our conference and set a new standard for industry events as we comply with the Covid-19 regulations set out by government.

We are confident that we can create a virtual conferencing experience that provides meaningful engagement and incorporates all the important aspects of a physical conference, and we invite you to experience this before the conference. The virtual conference platform we will be using is fully cloud-based and has an integrated mobile app for ease of access and attendee interaction. The virtual platform also includes live support to assist participants with any challenges they may experience. Importantly, the virtual conference experience differs significantly from webinars, which we have seen an abundance of during lockdown. The platform allows for fully interactive parallel sessions, keynote presentations, poster sessions, workshops, panel discussions, meetings hubs and exhibitions. The benefits for our delegates are numerous. Attendees can participate in live polls and Q&As with speakers who can share their presentations and other information for download. The platform also allows you to take notes during every session which will be collated and emailed to you. Most significantly, all presentations will be available on demand after the conference to watch at any time. There are ample sponsorship opportunities available, including banner positions, virtual conference bags, video ads and graphics embedded in livestreams. "For exhibitors, there is a virtual trade corner with instant video meetings and chat features. As with a physical conference, time will be allocated in the programme for engagement.

A virtual conference will also allow us to reach a wider audience, and all our partners, sponsors and exhibitors to reach a global audience, for longer. We are so sold on virtual that we expect to incorporate a virtual element in most, if not all, of WISA's conferences and events in the future, post Covid-19. We hope that you will embrace the virtual conference and join us on our journey to setting new conferencing standards for the future.

Water sector

It is imperative that South Africa embraces a few fundamental shifts around water. Our water resources are limited, and we must start doing more with less.

Covid-19, water usage and hygiene, water economics and urbanisation are both an opportunity for economic growth and a threat to livability, into the future. We find that an uncertain future underpins the planning of our cities and the management of our ecosystems. With increasing numbers of people living in metropolitan areas, water, energy and materials need to be carefully used, reused and renewed.

Water is an integral part of all sectors, and it is time to stop looking at it in isolation. We hope that by expanding the 2020 conference to include a broader range of governmental departments we will be able to ensure that water is valued, conserved and protected across all sectors.

In a country such as South Africa, the work done by the water sector has a major influence on the sustainability and success of our communities and our economy. For WISA, our biennial conference reflects the vital role that we must play, as factors such as climate change and an ever-burgeoning population have necessitated an adaptation to the new, water-constrained normal.

I invite you to participate in the 2020 WISA Biennial Conference, and immerse yourself in the discussions, interact with fellow delegates and speakers on our digital platform, and expand your horizons throughout this new form of learning and communication. Help us action the change that South Africa needs to ensure that the country has access to clean, safe water that is preserved and protected by all of society.

Dr Lester Goldman

WISA CEO

THE ORGANISING COMMITTEE CHAIR

The WISA Biennial Conference and Exhibition is the region's biggest water conference – bringing together water sector professionals and other stakeholders from across the country and beyond. This year's conference is expected to be bigger and better than ever before – even during these difficult times.

Our past conferences have provided a platform to discuss problems and solutions facing the water and related sectors. Now is the time to create mechanisms and an enabling environment to set us on a path of implementation and impact. Water is everyone's business, and everyone should be involved in ensuring we have water security. This is now more important than ever as we need to navigate issues of pandemics, climate change, weather variability, demand growth, infrastructure needs and so forth. For this reason, this year's conference will be held under the theme 'All hands on deck' and our sub-themes which will read as a to-do list:

1. Reduce water demand and increase supply
2. Manage the resource for a capable ecology
3. Manage and monitor effective water and sanitation services and infrastructure
4. Govern and regulate the sector
5. Improve raw water quality and management
6. Develop skills and technology innovations and disruptors

The conference will consider the broader impacts of water on society and the environment. We hope to have as many as eight government departments on board, reflecting the integral role of water in all that we do. The need to close the science-policy-implementation chasm is of a high priority.

As always, the next instalment of the WISA Conference will feature informative knowledge sharing sessions and networking opportunities as well as several conference tracks to ensure that there is something for everyone. We will also be increasing the number of workshops for a more interactive experience.

We hope that you will join us for an exciting, insightful and educational instalment of this premier water meeting on the continent. The conference will be virtual using a professional platform that will enable you to have a full conference experience. It is time to action change in the water sector; we hope you will respond to the clarion call to get all hands on deck!

Keep safe!

Dr Shafick Adams
Chair of the OC

MOTIVATION & RATIONALE

If you offer products or services in the water sector, the Biennial WISA Conference and Exhibition has always been the best place to be seen and heard. This year is no different. The organisers of #WISA2020 have met the challenge of the Covid-19 pandemic and have put together a conference which is bigger, better, and more exciting than ever before.

#WISA2020 is one of southern Africa's largest gatherings of people in all spheres of the water sector, and this year it is going 100% virtual, with all the benefits and opportunities that this new way of meeting is able to bring.

One of the big advantages of a virtual meeting is that we can throw off all the restraints imposed by the traditional conference model. As a sponsor or an exhibitor, your presence at #WISA2020 will last at least six months longer than the usual conference week. There are a host of other benefits too.

By signing up now as a sponsor you will:

- Increase your pre-conference exposure through marketing coverage (website / social media / mailers);
- Raise your profile above your competitors;
- Increase recognition and drive traffic to your Trade Corner display / website;
- Benefit from the marketing platform through branding and acknowledgement;
- Contribute to and be actively involved in the development and growth of the industry and those that work in the water sector;
- Deliver a greater ROI. Sponsoring an event can often be cheaper and have a higher return on investment than a TV commercial or other advertising methods;
- Contribute to the resilience of the vital water sector; and
- Increase your company's reputational profile.

For exhibitors, #WISA2020 offers a Virtual Trade Corner which takes the concept of exhibiting to a whole new level. If you are expecting the kind of online meeting that we have become accustomed to, you are going to be surprised at the capabilities of our gold standard conferencing platform. We are confident that the features and capabilities that you can take advantage of will allow you to exceed all your marketing and networking targets for the event.

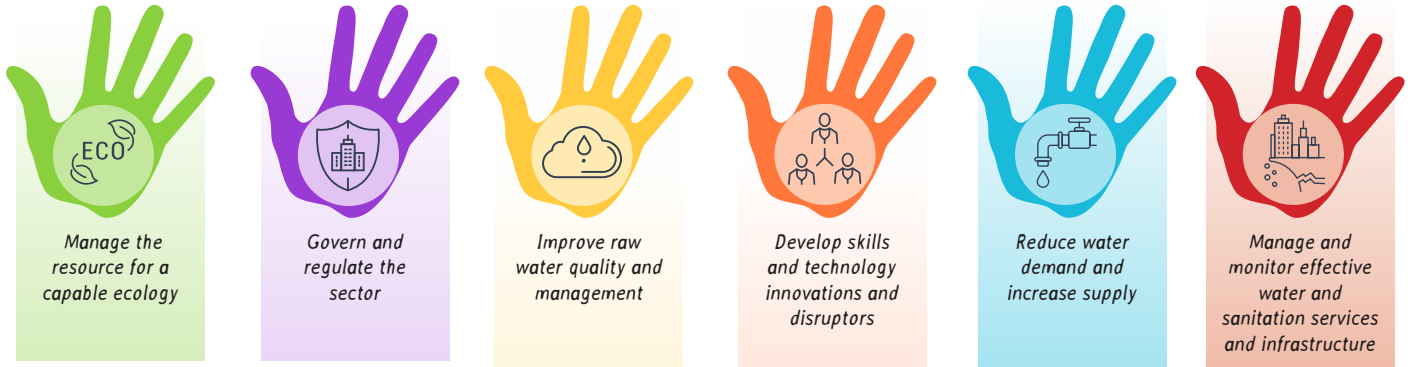

The Virtual Trade Corner will allow you to use your own virtual space to:

- Host gold standard interactive video chats with delegates;
- Pre-book one-on-one meetings with delegates;
- Launch new products;
- Strengthen current product popularity;
- Generate sales leads;
- Reach new specific markets;
- Meet with a high level, sector specific audience;
- Be recognised;
- Build brand trust: if you exhibit then you are more likely to be considered a serious business player;
- Enhance Visibility: you might have a strong online presence, but to strengthen and grow your brand, there also needs to be a real visibility. People buy from people;
- Build market intelligence – get to know your competitors and their products; and
- Keep up with industry trends and products that compliment your business.

MOTIVATION & RATIONALE

Technical programme

- The central theme for WISA 2020 is “#All Hands on Deck” with the following sub-themes running through the programme (detailed information can be found on the page on the website www.wisa2020.org.za):

ABOUT WISA

The Water Institute of Southern Africa (WISA) was formed in 1987 when the Southern African branch of the Institute of Water Pollution Control, originally founded in 1937, was disbanded. At the beginning of 2000, WISA was incorporated as a Non-Profit Company under the Companies Act of 2008. This means that WISA shall use its funds and assets solely to further its stated aims and objectives and no funds or assets shall be distributed to any other person or body. WISA has also been recognised as a professional body by SAQA in 2013.

Currently, the institute has approximately 3300 members and is growing steadily on an annual basis. The institute embodies a multidisciplinary approach and as such, members are drawn from all spheres of employment and varying disciplinary backgrounds.

#allhandsondeck

Southern Africa is facing increasing water demands to meet the needs of a rapidly growing and urbanising population, changing lifestyles, and economic growth.

WISA2020 aims to speed up delivery and bring purposeful feedback to the leadership of South Africa. The sector offers opportunities for economic growth, improvement in environmental, human and animal health. But we need to have #AllHandsOnDeck to address the water crisis caused by insufficient water infrastructure maintenance and investment; recurrent droughts and floods driven by climatic variation; inequities in access to services; deteriorating raw water quality; and a lack of skilled water practitioners. WISA 2020 provides a platform for these issues to be discussed, solutions to be shared and decisions to be taken. The meeting will culminate in a Pledge to Action - an #AllHandsOnDeck call for local and regional players to work together towards a sustainable water future.
